WHO & WHAT'S NEW FOR 2017-2018

Mount Hood Meadows: Happy 50th Birthday to Mount Hood Meadows. Their 50th Anniversary celebration will commemorate and honor the achievements of Meadows since it opened in January of 1968. There will be special events, special lift ticket deals, a Golden Ticket promotion and a huge party on January 27, 2018, culminating with the awarding of a 50-year season pass. New additions to Meadows this year include a remodeled Demo Center, a new Quad Chair, more seating at the Hood River Meadows Lodge, and 2 new groomers. Congratulations to all the staff at Meadows currently and those who have worked there in the past.

Happy Anniversary Snowmass: Snowmass is celebrating their 50th Anniversary this year, and with it, they will be offering up $6.50 lift tickets on Friday, December 15th, 2017.

What's the catch? Ticket must be booked with a minimum of 1 night's lodging through "Stay Aspen Snowmass". The Lift Ticket is ONLY good on Snowmass Mountain. And, remember, snow conditions at this time of the year are unpredictable. But, hey.....it's a $6.50 ticket and a chance to celebrate Snowmass' anniversary.

Five Things To Expect On Opening Day: High Energy will be abounding. Everyone is excited for opening day, and can't wait for that first run on the season. Costumes. Some snowsport enthusiasts will bust out their favorite, funky or retro gear costume. What better time to wear it? Bacon Bloody Marys at Arapahoe Basin are the "in" drink....especially during early season. Cameras. Media will be out in force on opening day. Have that super smile ready. Lastly...CROWDS. Of course there will be crowds. What do you expect? It's OPENING DAY!

FAR WEST CONVENTION

Eight Months And Counting: The Bay Area Snow Sports Council and Sierra League and Council are very busy planning the 2018 Convention, to be held June 7-10, 2018 at the Atlantis Casino and Resort Spa. We'll have kayaking on the Truckee River, our Annual Michael German Golf Tournament, a day hike in South Lake Tahoe, and other fun things planned, along with our usual Silent Auction, Travel Expo, Educational Seminars, Panel Discussions with local experts on forestry, ski areas, and other issues, a great Keynote Speaker, and just a good time for everyone. Make your reservations now: <https://reservations.travelclick.com/98418?groupID=2016540>.

It takes a village to host a convention and we are asking our FWSA family to help us. If we can get a lot of volunteers to help out with the myriad of tasks, it will spread out the work and make the convention fun for all of us. We need volunteers beginning with registration and pub crawl sign in on Thursday afternoon, helping get optional event participants onto busses Friday morning and registration on Friday afternoon. Helping hands are needed throughout the convention to take meal tickets, staff hospitality suite events and many small tasks that will take only a short amount of time and help to lighten the host councils' load. Contact the convention host coordinators: Jo Simpson, jo_simpson@sbcglobal.net and Paul Vlasveld, pvlasveld@comcast.net.

Sheri Parshall, the new coordinator for the Council 's Man & Woman of the Year competition, has been working with Chris Gill, San Diego Council President, and Jo Simpson, VP Council Services, to reinvigorate the program, and, hopefully entice more participation club entries. Here's a sneak peek at the changes which have been sent to the FWSA council presidents: A new FAQ answer sheet which we hope provides everything your clubs want to know about the MWOTY program; A newly-revised application, only 3 pages long, which will be heavily weighted on council and club participation (not just leadership), with some points awarded for regional and national participation. Legislative, environment, and safety questions will be deleted from the application (though may come up in interviews); lastly, Honorees will be seated at a VIP tables during the Saturday luncheon, and receive special recognition along with our sponsor, Big White. The goal is to encourage more participation from club members by simplifying the application process, clarifying who is eligible, and confirming FWSA's continued commitment to provide financial assistance to honorees so that they can attend the convention
