Winter is Back!

Instead of April showers that bring May flowers, we are getting back into deep winter, with at least 2 winter storms bringing several feet of fresh snow in the first half of April. See more on page 8.

Join us for some more skiing. Tour the canyons west of Timberline every Saturday with Emilio as a guide. Or explore the Private Reserve, God's Wall and more at Meadows. The powder has been pretty good lately.

Join us for some socializing, at the Happy Hour (April 14) and the PACRAT Rat Attack Awards party (April 22), and then at a virtual NWSCC meeting (April 27). Details are on page 4.

Get ready for the Far West Convention coming to Portland in June. Participate in something, at least in the free Friday evening Trade Show & Silent Auction. Pages 5-6.

Read the story of Spider Sabich on page 10. It has been said that the movie "Downhill Racer" was inspired by Sabich, who was killed by his French girlfriend.

"So Edgy" - our best PACRAT team

For the past several years, in addition to the PACRAT awards, our club has set up our own award for the best Mountain High race team. Thanks to Alan Bean, our Racing Director, for setting that up.

This year's best Mountain High team is "So Edgy". Judging by their results, it looks like they really know how to use their edges! They won the Mountain High PACRAT trophy, which is kept on display in our club's display case at the Mt. Hood Museum & Cultural Center in Government Camp. Come into the Museum and check it out. Admission is free.

Note the color code.
Our club is blue.

Ski the Glade Trail Day

March 5, 2022. (Saturday). This annual event on the first Saturday of March is the only day of the year that the Glade Trail is groomed all the way from Timberline to Government Camp, a total of over 3 miles. It was also patrolled and shuttle buses were provided to return to Timberline. This was a living history experience, skiing the way people used to ski before Timberline Lodge was built. It was also a fundraiser for the Mt. Hood Museum and Cultural Center.

It is a very popular event and it sells out every year. As usual a maximum of about 70 tickets are sold. They included breakfast, lunch and après ski happy hour with door prizes. Plus unlimited shuttle bus rides to Timberline. See more pictures on our website, on the PHOTOS page: <http://www.mthigh.org/Photos.htm> .

Whitefish, Montana trip and Blacktail Mt.

March 13 - 20, 2022. This was a very flexible trip, where people could stay for 4, 5, or 7 nights. Bill King was our trip leader. 48 people participated. We got several foggy days at Whitefish. In the middle of the trip, on Wednesday, some of us took a day trip to Blacktail Mountain.

At Whitefish, the resort had moved the chairlift that takes people out of Hellroaring canyon. The lift was moved probably about half a mile to the side and also moved quite a bit higher on the mountain, thus making it easier for advanced skiers to do laps in Hellroaring canyon. Some new trails have been cut, but the terrain is still very steep.

Raj and Tanika got engaged at Whitefish Mountain, right next to the statue of Jesus.

At Blacktail Mountain, we had a great powder day, along with some intermittent sunshine. Blacktail has two adjacent hills, served by a total of 3 lifts. The longest lift on the larger hill has a mid-station, used mainly to load the chairs with skiers who only want to ski the upper mountain, where the snow is better, lighter, and drier.

When and Where to Find Us

In addition to the times listed below, our members ski at other times too. The 2 groups mentioned below are the most visible. We need to hear more from weekend skiers at Meadows and mid-week skiers at Timberline and Skibowl. Use our two Forums and our Facebook page to communicate with others.

Weekends at Timberline or Skibowl

Come ski with us! Just for fun. Can you show us some new trail, a secret stash, a hidden slope? Or can we show you something new you haven't skied before? Let's find out. Usually on Saturdays.

Please drive up early. The parking lots don't fill up so quickly any more in the Spring. No need to be there by 7:30 am. Now you can drive up at 8 am and still find parking. Or take the Mt. Hood Express bus.

There are no long lift lines at Timberline, even when the parking lots are full. That's because Timberline's lift capacity far exceeds their parking lot capacity.

Meet a few minutes after 9 am, in front of Timberline's day lodge, next to the free ski check. We'll wait for the Mt. Hood Express bus to arrive.

At Skibowl, meet on the back side of the cafeteria building, not far from the bottom of the stairs.

Midweek at Mt. Hood Meadows

A group of us go skiing at Mt. Hood Meadows on week days, all winter, usually on Thursdays, or whenever there is good powder.

At Meadows, find us in the cafeteria in the South lodge near the Schuss restaurant on the slope level, 2nd floor. If we are not allowed in the lodge, then meet near the top of the steps, usually at a ski rack on the right where we would rest our skis & just hang out around 8:15-8:30 am.

You can connect with the mid-week group by joining our online Midweek forum page: <http://groups.google.com/group/MtHigh-midweek> . Click on the "Join this group" link (on the upper right of the page) and follow the instructions.

Please choose to receive all emails from the group. That way, you will be notified when there is news.

2022 FWSA Convention in Portland, Oregon

The 89th Annual Far West Ski Association Convention will be held June 9-12, 2022, in Portland Oregon, at the Holiday Inn Portland - Columbia Riverfront. NOTE: This is not a new location. The Holiday Inn is the former Red Lion. Just a name change.

Mark the dates and plan to show up. This is a great opportunity to experience a Far West Convention on our own turf. Here are just a few highlights:

1. Mt. Hood Tour and Pub Crawl on Thursday.
2. Golf and a Wine Tour on Friday.
3. On Friday evening, there will be a Snowsport Trade Show & Silent Auction with great deals on ski trips and it is free and open to everyone.
4. Educational (ski related) seminars, Public relations meetings, and more.

See more details on the FWSA website at: https://www.fwsa.org/content.aspx?page_id=22&club_id=623165&module_id=504188 .

Note that we the locals can register in a variety of ways, including: the complete convention package that includes lodging and meals, or the package without lodging, or register for just some of the activities.

Also note that the Friday night's trade show and silent auction are free for all. Just show up. Visit some of the ski areas' booths, and bid on some of their offerings (ski trips etc.) that can be had for amazingly low prices, especially if nobody else bids against you.

Q: How can I participate in the Far West Convention?A: You can participate in several ways:

- a) As a visitor at the Trade Show & Silent Auction on Friday evening. Just show up. It's free.
- b) As a volunteer, to help our NWSCC organizers and hosts. Contact Chris Ciardi: c2blondie@hotmail.com
- c) As a registered delegate. Full registration costs $179 and includes breakfast, lunch and dinner on Saturday and breakfast on Sunday morning, as well as all the education seminars and other activities all day Saturday. And you can also vote in all the FWSA proceedings on Sunday morning. To register, go online to the FWSA website at: https://www.fwsa.org/content.aspx?page_id=22&club_id=623165&module_id=504188.

Note that there is a separate button there to register for hotel lodgings and a separate button for registering as a Convention Delegate. We do have a minimum number of hotel rooms that we need to fill, so we highly encourage people to stay at the hotel, and enjoy ALL the aspects of being a Convention Delegate, including the Apres parties on Friday and Saturday nights, as well as the Eye Opener on Sunday prior to the general meeting.

Q: What is the Trade Show and Silent Auction?

A: The Trade Show on Friday evening is basically a ski show (like Snowvana), but it is free. Ski areas and other ski industry representatives will have their booths there. Also, there will be a great Raffle for the Athletic Scholarship Program, benefiting Junior racers.

For the Silent Auction, most booths will have a signup sheet where you can bid on an item or two that they are donating to the FWSA. You have an excellent chance of getting a ski trip for very low prices.

The former Travel Expo is included in the trade show.

This event is free and open to the public. Bring your friends. Everyone is welcome. It happens on Friday evening, between 6:30 pm and 10:30 pm.

This is the only place our people can meet in person the Tour Operators who set up trips - and they have some pre-arranged trips that clubs can join in on.

Q: What happens on Saturday?

A: Saturday's program is for registered delegates only. A lot happens on that day. There will be educational seminars. A session on Avalanche Safety and guest, Steve Rollins from Portland Mountain Rescue, as well as a session with Forest Service Rep, and meteorologists, Matt Zaffino and Rod Hill from KGW. Club and individual awards will be given out during the luncheon. The day will end with a banquet dinner and a dance.

Q: What about Sunday?

A: Sunday is the time for the Annual Far West General meeting and elections, with a delicious Brunch from 10:30 to 11:30. Door prizes will be given away.

Communication crucial for Safety

In recent years, there has been a boom of interest in backcountry and side-country skiing. Groomed slopes are getting too crowded. The out-of-bounds slopes offer beautiful views and safety from being hit by another skier or snowboarder. But the backcountry also requires that we take additional precautions against tree wells, avalanches, or simply getting separated from others and getting lost. And a key safety factor in this is being able to stay in touch with others in your group.

Two-way radios provide the best way to stay in touch and communicate with your group. A phone might not have a signal in the forest or behind a hill. And even if you have a signal, you can only communicate with one person at a time. Meanwhile, a radio enables instant communication between everyone in the group.

Greg Hope, a long time resident of Telluride, Colorado is an advocate for safety on the slopes. He is also an ambassador for BCA - Backcountry Access - a manufacturer of backcountry equipment.

In April 2016, Greg and a friend were descending the Grandfather Couloir in the San Juan Mountains. While they were in the midst of a roped descent, a group from above sluffed Hope's partner off of her rappel. If the other group had carried radios to hear Hope's fruitless calls asking them to wait until they had completed their rappel and exited the line, the accident may never have happened.

Radios offer a large number of available channels, so you can communicate privately with your own group. But a growing trend is to use a common channel so that other groups in your vicinity can hear you too.

"The common radio channel thing already has been super useful, and it seems like it's caught on really well," explains Hope about the new push among backcountry skiers to promote the use of radios as a way to communicate between groups. "I think maybe more than even just within your own group, it's huge to have the common channels for certain areas and to be able to communicate with other groups if there's a rescue situation, people on top of you, whatever it may be."

About how this radio communication trend is being received in the Telluride area, Hope says, "I think this trend is catching on, but like with anything new, some people are hesitant to adopt them and old-timers stick to their ways more with the yelling technique. But generally speaking, I think people look at [the common radio channels] positively and have taken it pretty well."

Ultimately, Hope sees radios as having a role besides the other backcountry necessities: beacon, shovel, and probe. As the dialogue evolves around the vital role communication plays in avalanche safety, so too will the acceptance of radios and common radio channels for backcountry goers.

"What I tell people who are getting into the backcountry nowadays is that I don't go out without my BC Link radio, because it seems to be the new essential: beacon, shovel probe, radio. The radio is just as important as everything else."

Radios can also be very useful inbounds as well, whenever you ski with more than one other person. For example, if you are delayed in traffic and your group couldn't wait any longer and went skiing without you. With radios, you can simply call them and any of them could answer to tell you where they are and how best to meet up.

Same if you accidentally get separated from your group. Or, if your group consists of skiers of different abilities and some ski faster than others. You naturally separate into smaller groups. Radios will then make it easy to coordinate plans for meeting up in the lodge for lunch.

One of our club members, a few years ago, briefly slid into some nicely spaced trees between two groomed runs. He twisted his ankle there and had to slowly hobble out of there. What if he had broken a leg? He said he wished he had had at least a loud whistle to attract attention, because yelling didn't have any effect. Having a 2-way radio would have been even better. Be safe -- carry a radio.

Our Mountain High club has been using channel 6-19 as our channel for many years.

Winter is back!

What a difference a week makes! The first weekend in April was the end of a dry and warm period. At the end of the Glade Trail, just above Government Camp, a large patch of dirt was showing where the snow had completely melted away near the intersection with the Crosstown trail.

By Saturday, April 9, just a week later, about 2 feet of snow had fallen, completely covering that bare patch and making skiing to Government Camp easy again.

For the week of April 9 - 16, the forecast is for more snow. Much more snow. At least 2 - 3 feet more! The temperatures will remain consistently below freezing, both day and night for the whole week, this preserving the good quality of the snow. Come on out ye powder hounds! Let's go play!

This past weekend, April 9 - 10, there was excellent powder on Mt. Hood, both at Timberline and Mt. Hood Meadows. Even skiing from Timberline to Government Camp was unusually good even at lower elevations. It was one of those rare occasions when you don't have to take off your skis when you reach Government Camp. Instead of walking the equivalent of about 5 or 6 blocks, you could ski all the way down to Huckleberry Inn or Collins Lake Resort.

Unfortunately, just like in real winter storms, the upper chairlifts have been mostly closed lately, due to high winds and/or low visibility.

Parked in Government Camp and skied all the way to our car, in April, with Malcolm MacDonald and Jon Waldum. Photo from Jon Waldum.

YOU HEARD IT HERE FIRST

New 6-pack Lift at Mt. Hood Meadows

The Mt. Hood Meadows Express quad chairlift will be replaced with a 6-pack chairlift in the Summer of 2023.

The quad chair has been in place since 1994.

The new 6-pack will increase the lift capacity from 2,600 skiers/hour to 3,600 skiers/hour. That's 1,000 skiers more than before.

New Hiking Trails at Mt. Hood Meadows

Meadows has 8 miles of new hiking trails since last summer (2021).

These trails can most easily be accessed from the Stadium chairlift, which will operate Thursdays thru Mondays during the Summer.

If you buy a 2022-23 Winter season pass, it includes free access to Summer lift riding. Just an incentive to buy early.

New High Speed Lift at 49° North

The 49 Degrees North ski area has installed a new high-speed quad chairlift to replace the old double chairlift to the top of the mountain.

The new lift is named "Northern Spirit Express".
